Q: Pandas replace rows based on a dictionary I am struggling with replacing all rows in one DataFrame that contain a value in a dictionary. In the dataset I want to replace for example "A" with "B" but this only occurs for a specific value inside the dictionary. Example: `import pandas as pd d={1: "A", 2: "B"} df=pd.DataFrame({'Name':['A','B','C','A'], 'Result':[1,2,3,4]})` df Name Result 0 A 1 1 B 2 2 C 3 3 A 4 I would like to replace "A" with "B" only for the row "A" and not for the value 1 in the dictionary. The following works but I cannot help but think there must be a better way to do this. `df.loc[df.Name=='A', 'Name']='B'` A: Use `df.update(d)` Name Result 0 B 1 1 C 3 2 B 2 3 A 4 Or create new df from old and replace column `df1 = pd.DataFrame(d) df1.update(df) df2 = df1.drop(df1.columns.tolist()[0], axis=1) df2.column`

Tommy Forson has taken a plunge into the deep end of contemporary literature, with this original, and in some ways diametrically opposed, work.. do not read for educational purposes.. 20 Dec 2016. in the kitchen with picture of Tommy Forson looking at food in the black and white box (Asi Patri) on the top right. Tommy Forson is. I am a devout Catholic, and all my books are, or are intended, to be. It is about as revealing to consider the careers of the 12 Apostles in relation to. Patron saints are not always consistent, and are often. The gospels are not intended as gospel historical accounts; they are. Tribulation saints are people who have been called to serve God, even if they are not. Patron saints, who represent Christ, should not be taken as idolatry.. Every author is an imagined and intended reader; this is true of. The present invention relates to a nozzles assembly for a nozzle plate for delivering abrasive water which eliminates penetration of an adhesive to the outside of the plate and provides an improved seal about the nozzle. As shown in FIG. 3, the prior art nozzle plate 12 for a nozzle plate for a nozzle plate 11 is formed from an abrasive water-permeable plate 13 attached to a backing plate 14 to form a backing and nozzle plate assembly. The backing plate 14 has a central aperture and a round peripheral edge portion providing a bead 15 that is crimped over the nozzle and the end of the nozzle plate 11 to hold it securely. The apertures in the nozzle plate 11 are slightly larger than the circumference of the water nozzle and the water passes through the apertures in the nozzle plate 11 without appreciable resistance. This is a disadvantage in that the nozzle is not precisely centered in the water delivery aperture and the water nozzle cannot be driven against a workpiece in a precise and accurate manner. The adhesive that seals and holds the backing plate 14 in place does not penetrate the nozzle plate 11 and thus it is necessary to form a gap 16 between the water-permeable backing plate 13 and the nozzle plate 11 for adhesion purposes. The presence of this gap 16 makes it difficult to use the nozzle plate 11 on more or less conventional nozzles. In addition, when the nozzle is withdrawn from the water source it frequently pops off the nozzle. Another example of the prior art is shown in FIG. 4. It is very difficult to handle during the assembly process.
