===== Double
click simulator is a very small utility, developed and released by PDWare. It creates a virtual middle click. Each click, when not converted to double click, will emulate a button press.
With that, any button pressed by a user can be emulated, or the ones already there can be changed with the already existing global hotkeys. You can choose what buttons do you want to emulate and how often they should be converted. Also, you can choose which controls you want to use through their global hotkeys. Keyboard and mouse emulation The program creates a virtual middle click by simulated a button press, thus, you will be able to emulate any button that was pressed. You can emulate a button only if it doesn't have a hotkey assigned, yet. Global hotkeys The program allows you to assign any button to any hotkey combination (global hotkey).

---

This gives you some control over the setup of your system.
Window manager replacement Double click simulator can also replace a window manager's default behavior in regard to window focus, mouse cursor positioning and movement. This includes the "hide" focus mode,

which disables all mouse events to your window. - All the above features work on any version of Windows, but the program is more designed to be used with the X11 Window System. The application icon: =====

Winamp helper has a simple systray icon (the program icon), which allows you to run the program in different user sessions without having to start it every time. The icon can be changed from within the program. You can set any image you want there, and it will be displayed when the icon is clicked. You can also use the program in minimized state, which will show you a semi-transparent screen in the system tray. System tray support: =====

===== Double click simulator and Winamp helper is fully designed to support the

---

systray and is not a fancy systray replacement. - Double click simulator and Winamp helper will integrate well with all existing systray tools, such as systray context menu. - This program will display all the buttons (without showing the toolbars or other windows controls) in the system tray. -

---

The application will maximize itself to fill the area (size) of the system tray. - All the windows will also fill the systray area, in the same way as they would for any other application. - Double

What's New in the?

The dblclick.exe simulates a left mouse click using the middle

button of a mouse. The middle button (mouse button #2) allows to double click the mouse cursor or open a file in the default browser, download a file (a file from the Internet), open a file from the hard drive, find and select a song in the playlist, open a new window and so on. You can also use the `dblclick.exe` to change any settings (playing, skipping, volume) in Winamp. It also allows to control Winamp with its global hotkeys. This is a very powerful tool that can replace a full-blown control panel and can be configured for every application that can get it. The `dblclick.dll` simulates a left mouse click on the mouse.

---

Configuration and installation

You can control `dblclick.exe` through its systray icon. To start `dblclick.exe`, you must run it with the "Run as Administrator" option. To stop `dblclick.exe` or simulate a double click, you must right click on the systray icon and select Exit. `dblclick.exe` can be modified and run with its own configuration program. To use the configuration program, you must start it with the "Run as Administrator". dblclick.exe can be configured to be started automatically on computer boot or after a system shutdown. To do this, you must edit its registry key HKLM\Software\Globalization\SavedClipboard. Known
