This can take a number of forms, but more often than not it can mean binge-watching TV series online. But did you know that binge-watching is bad for you? Don't worry, there are much better ways to waste your time on the web. Sitting in front of a computer screen all day Chances are you are spending a lot of time sitting in front of a computer screen, whether it's for work or a hobby. Sitting for a long time takes its toll on your body. You can develop issues like carpal tunnel syndrome. Other health problems may include blood clots, sleep problems and other common concerns. Even if you stand all day or take short strolls, the chronic effects of long hours of sitting still remain. If you're new to long hours of sitting, you may need to start with small steps. Social media sites can make you crazy This is a classic example of having too much
