Also makes a great conversation starter. ====== pedalpete Wow, I'm pretty sure I'm not the only one who has been here since before the submission filter, but have read through all the old threads many times. I think I read my first HN comment on one of those old threads! I'm thinking of a thread about how people without an account should be able to post comments, and I replied 'Well you should be able to create one, and if you want to comment, you should be able to find something to comment on!'. That thread remains one of my favorite memories of HN, and I've always remembered that line.
