PG Calculator Cracked Accounts is a scientific multifunction skinnable calculator that operates in three working modes: standard, algebraic and RPN. PG Calculator For Windows 10 Crack is a power full scientific skinnable calculator. It is an excellent replacement for standard Windows calculator. PG Calculator works in algebraic and RPN mode. PG Calculator recognizes real and complex numbers and allows simple vectors manipulations. There are up to 120 recognized units of measure with possibility to make easy conversions between consistent units. PG Calculator allows user-defined variables. It enables numbers inputing in binary, octal, hexadecimal and exponential formats. Graphical user interface can be easy changed with skin implementation. As you can see on the picture PG Calculator will look like real calculator on your desktop. Works with real and complex numbers. Allows vector manipulations. Multitouch and Multilanguage This multifunction calculator has 3 interactive "hands" to enter data: - a "hold" area (top of the screen) - a "move" area (bottom of the screen) - a "pinch" area (where you touch the screen with two fingers) - a "tap" area (where you touch the screen with one finger) The use of 3 interactive hands allows to enter values quickly and correctly. You can also change the skin color of the active area by pressing the button "Change skin color". This multifunction calculator has one language but can be used in 3 different languages. Each language has its own different keyboard. Because there is only one language, this multifunction calculator offers a multilanguage mode. You can enter data in 3 different languages simultaneously. When you press the button "Change language", the multifunction calculator will switch automatically to the language you have selected. The use of 3 interactive hands allows to enter values quickly and correctly. The use of 2 buttons to enter exponent allows quick and easy exponentiation. Press the button "Increase/Decrease exponent" to increase or decrease the value of the exponent in the exponentiation. You can also use the buttons "sin", "cos" and "tan" in trigonometry mode. This multifunction calculator has one language but can be used in 3 different languages. Each language has its own different keyboard. Because there is only one language, this multifunction calculator offers a multilanguage mode. You can enter data in 3 different languages simultaneously.
