Mika Tatanka Games Auriculotherapy is a complementary and alternative medicine (CAM) treatment in which patients are treated by applying different appliances, such as earplugs, decanters, masks and so forth to the external ear drum in order to cure different diseases. The term auriculotherapy is commonly used to refer to the custom treatment of problems by placing earplugs or other appliances in or around the external ear canal. Auricular acupuncture is the insertion of needles to the acupuncture points in the ear. Some alternative therapies have been shown to have some effect in relieving insomnia. History Auriculotherapy was practiced from ancient times, but the term was first used in the 19th century by the French psychiatrist Paul Rive, first as an ear paring and later as ear plugging. dyslexia. There were also several strong criticisms of the medical licensure authorities in the USA (despite very strong claims to the contrary) in the 1990s. In the UK the BDA released the Auriculotherapy Regulations in December 2010. The BDA is an organisation that represents the interests of professionals in the various complementary and alternative therapies and specialisms. The B
