In 2084, Moonbase 332 is the final frontier between the Moon and the Earth; a massive underwater base where humans meet their end. Make sure to bring your own insurance policy, and don't forget to take chewing gum. You've been warned. There's a good chance you'll run across dead bodies. Will you be able to find the doors on the other side? You're going to need your wits. Moonbase 332 The games official site: Developer: Stormcloud Studios / Chris Taylor Publisher: Stormcloud Studios Released: January 28th, 2013 for Windows, Mac & Linux Website: Moonbase332: Dress Ever Oct 30, 2007 Recently, I have seen a lot of pictures of girls with hemlines low and even mid-thigh. It really is hot and makes me feel better when I see the extra fabric on the floor. I think it is great that young people are starting to experiment with skirts and pants. I had the chance to go to a New York Fashion Week a few years ago and was shocked at how skimpy they were. They could be seen in public on the runway and practically every model had at least a few inches of material on the floor. But since then, I have only seen a few models with a high leg length. Although they are not common, they are definitely out there. I have a post about fashion week that you can check out here.Philips' unveiled Tuesday a small box camcorder that can record 4K resolution video at 60 frames per second, the first device of its kind, as well as a wearable camera with a small digital camera head on the eyeglass frames that contains several embedded computer chips, the company announced at the Mobile World Congress in Barcelona, Spain. It's obvious that the device is designed to work together with the company's DigiProcam 500HD, so it looks like there's no need to carry around both units separately. The DigiProcam will be available at the end of the month at prices starting at $299, and will be sold in large retail chains and online. The EyeglassCam will be available in June in Europe. Philips' is the latest company to announce video recording technology for cameras with extremely small dimensions. Google, for

I'm Alec Robbins and I made this game for Nintendo DS. I'm really excited for it because it's one of my first games made by myself. You play as a teenage boy who finds out that he has the power to end everyone's high school relationship! He will find the most popular boy/girl in school, but before that, he will have to break up with him/her in the least painful way possible. Each in-game encounter will have two major paths to choose between, the good/nice/pleasant one, and the hard/mean/cruel one. I hope you like this game because it was my first effort and I tried my best. I really hope it appeals to you!!! If you think this is more amazing than Pokemon Red/Blue, wait until you get to the final level. Then I'm sure you'll understand why it is more amazing. If you're not a fan of visual novels, dating simulators, or dating simulators at all, then this game is probably not the right game for you. If you like story-telling, developing story-telling skills, and creating stories, then you will probably like Heartbreak High. I hope this game makes you feel nostalgic, but at the same time, it may make you feel ill. If you do end up feeling ill, I hope it feels worse for you than I intended it to feel. I know Nintendo DS is not the first choice for games, and thus, Heartbreak High may not be the first choice for the Nintendo DS. But, that's the beauty of the game. You see, I made the game for people like myself. I made it for the Nintendo DS because it was my first attempt to make a game for the Nintendo DS. To say I'm proud of the end result would be an understatement. And to you, the player, I would say: "Thank you for giving this a try, and thank you for having a positive impression of my first game." If you have any questions, feel free to ask. And if you don't, well, no one ever does! But, at least I tried. If you want to talk to me, you can always visit my blog and contact me there. If you want to, you could even donate. I'm not doing this for money. It's a one-man-show, so donating could help me buy a stylus for the game (or even a DS Lite). Also, since c9d1549cdd

In considering various concerns raised by you on the document, we have made these changes (all of which are intended to be minor corrections): 1.? There is minor typographical error in the word "Canceled" in Part 1.4. 2. In Part 4.4, the word "interest" was edited to read "using the LIBOR as the basis,"? which is a better way of showing how LIBOR will be the basis for this aspect of the exposure. 3. In Part 5.? we have added the footnote to the section giving the implied rate at which the floating local currency rate is expected to converge.? Also in Part 5.1., in lieu of adding footnote number 2, we've added a footnote that says the representative does not agree that part 6.1.2 applies to this transaction. Overall, we are very happy with the letter because, among other things, it finally acknowledges the need for and approach of managing our exposures.? In the future, we intend to provide updates to you on a more frequent basis on the status of these finalized documents.? At that point we will also have some formal status as to which documents have cleared and which do not.? For now, we want to keep as many options open as possible, and thus you will see on our next update that the document on the EnronOnline website has remained unchanged with all of our reviews.? Further, our Credit Dept. is putting the final touches on the credit worksheets and that part of the process is in review and looks quite promising so far. We will keep you apprised of future developments and hope that you consider this update as a form of year end progress report as to how your understanding and understanding of our documents is evolving.

I have a method that takes an array of input parameters, and a list of items to filter by input parameters. The method needs to be able to return all pets that match the parameters and also return the items list that matches the input parameters. What's the best way to do this in Laravel? This is what I've come up with so far: public function getPets($type, $owner) { $items = array(); if(!empty($type)) { $items = $this->items()->where('type', '=', $type); } if(!empty($owner)) { $items = $items->where('owner', '=', $owner); } // need to find out how to access the $items list // to include in the foreach here $items->get()->each(function($item) { // $item contains the array of $items }); return $items; } I'm stuck at this point: 1) How do I access the $items list to include them in the foreach loop? 2) What's the best way to build a list of items that match the input parameters? A: Is the solution I provided above good enough? public function getPets($type, $owner) { $items = array(); if(!empty
