I tried to fix that by reinstalling Visual Studio, but it isn't the issue. I'm using Visual Studio 2019 build 18.3.1. The system that is having the issue is a Windows 10 machine. I do not have administrator access to that machine, but I can log on via RDP. I am able to do a remote desktop connection to it if I'm logged in. A: It's not a Visual Studio 2019 bug, and the crash isn't caused by using the non-default edition of the .NET Core SDK (it occurs with the default version). It's bug in cmd.exe that is installed on Windows 10. See this Microsoft Connect issue. I managed to solve it by uninstalling the current version of cmd.exe, and then downloading and unzipping the v2.23 update from Microsoft: Installing the v2.23 update updated the file cmd.exe to version 16.9.4.0, and fixed my issue. Cytoreductive surgery remains the primary treatment of choice with concomitant hyperthermic intraperitoneal chemotherapy (HIPEC) being suggested in selected cases. We report a case of a patient suffering from pseudomyxoma peritonei with a tumour burden and the clinical presentation that challenges the treatment of choice. © 2016 Wiley Periodicals, Inc. The annual Discover Orange Day, presented by Bud Light, will open baseball's Grapefruit League schedule with one game at Ed Smith Stadium Tuesday, March 25, when the Braves host the Philadelphia Phillies, the only non-NL Central team in the division. The Grapefruit League schedule runs through June 28
