CATIA is a model based 3D CAD/CAM. free download for Windows and. Catia was the sixth version of the .Q: How can I get a value from a formatted date in SQL Server? I'm working with a sql script to set a value from a formatted date, and I came across this query declare @date datetime declare @formatted date SET @formatted = '2026-01-01' SELECT TOP 1 a FROM abc where abc.ordb is a large number and a is a different number i have many different tables with a date column i need the value to be set on a different record, while the date is formatted (the date column is on a different table) A: There are a couple of different ways to do this. But the most direct is likely to be: UPDATE t SET a = isnull(@date, t.thedate) FROM t WHERE t.ordb = 1234; The basic idea of the UPDATE statement is that you can set the value of a column in a target table directly. So, the UPDATE in this case updates the a column in the same row as that row and uses the value of the date column in the column. In the case of the isnull statement, the syntax is: ISNULL([expr], default) The parameter is the default value for the expression, if the ISNULL expression is NULL. You can also define a variable: SET @date = '2026-01-01' UPDATE t SET a = d.adate FROM t JOIN d ON d.ordb = 1234; Another option is to do this in two steps. First, get the value for the date column: SELECT TOP 1 d.adate FROM d WHERE d.ordb = 1234; Then set the value for the date column in a target table: UPDATE t SET t.thedate
