The world's first defence drone started life as a revolutionary technological achievement. Now it is a thing of the past. Drone development sparked a career for its creator, Adam Sunderland, whose talents soon found use in the military. Perched above vulnerable drone crafts and outmanoeuvred by enemy pilots, he could hear them coming from a considerable distance. The third invasion of Earth has not been successful. With the threat of Martians' return understood by most, the walls surrounding both Earth and Mars are packed with armed drones. These can be launched at any point along the invasion routes, and are ideal for chasing enemy craft and taking out their pilots. With the drone-drones out in the open, Adam has a chance to show his prowess by taking out as many of the enemy as he can. The year is 2015. The planet Earth is dying. At least, that is what the International Monetary Fund and the United Nations say. Everywhere you go, people are killing each other, just for money. Twenty years ago, a catastrophe caused the death of all life on earth. This catastrophe has been worsened by the total monopoly of the anti-life powers - the commercial software. Suddenly, a volunteer group of people has developed an anti-commercial software. With their new software, they want to save the mankind. The anti-life powers have reacted. They brutally exterminated the volunteer group. Now, every person who does not wear a branded commercial software, is considered an enemy. Every person, who dare to believe in a better life is hunted, captured and taken away to the anti-life star. You are one of these people - a volunteer. You have the power to fight against the anti-life powers. You have to help others and yourself to survive in a game, where killing is your only way of survival. Wear the brand new anti-life commercial software. It will give you the power to resist to the anti-life forces. You have to complete a long and dangerous journey across cities, neighborhoods and countries. The way is full of enemies who will try to stop you. Only with the cooperation with other people, you will be able to survive. Crazy Cool is a survival game with a dash of action, stealth, and puzzles. You play as a woman who's been sent by her family to investigate strange occurrences in their apartment. Upon arrival, she discovers that she's not alone. Several other survivors have made it out of their apartments with her, hoping to find safety away from the source of the strange occurrences in their surroundings. As you make your way through the building, you'll encounter tons of obstacles, both physical and psychological. Can you get through your adventure alive? Key Features: Survival gameplay, like in the early Resident Evil games, but with a different emphasis - now it's more of a puzzle game, with no heavy horror elements present. A breath of fresh air to the survival genre, Crazy Cool is a quick-play game with a beautiful and intuitive art style, and at the same time an atmospheric and original setting. Think of the atmosphere of the early Resident Evil games mixed with the mechanics of Castlevania: Symphony of the Night and The 7th Guest.

Jakarta, Indonesia — December 30, 2016 — Following a voluntary recall in early October 2016, the Indonesian regulator for chemical products, BKP, has started to send letters to major retailers informing them to take necessary measures to prevent a possible re-occurrence of the incident that happened back in 2008 in the city of Pasuruan. The recall, organized by the vendor and wholesaler for the product, occurred after Indonesian newspaper, Surya Citra Sarana, reported that a chemical product could be harmful to the eyes and skin. In their latest decisions, the country's regulatory body for chemical products and cosmetics, the Badan Pengawas Konsumsi Sarana Seluruh Indonesia, or BPKSRSI, has deemed the product affected with a hazard warning in accordance with Indonesian law. BJP workers and supporters after the declaration of results during the Gujarat assembly elections in Gandhinagar. Photo : PTI Highlights The total voter turnout of 61.93% in Gujarat as of 4 pm: Election Commission 9.77 crore votes were cast today in 129 seats; BJP got 104 of them Highlights Congress faces humiliating defeat in the state of Gujarat The ruling Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) has won 56 of the 60 seats of Gujarat's legislative assembly on Monday, while the opposition Congress has been routed with only four seats. The BJP was worried that the Gujarat assembly elections were going to be the last opportunity for Prime Minister Narendra Modi to make up for the misrule with which he has been accused. He was probably caught taking umbrage at a poll he felt was being rigged against him. After the votes were counted on Monday morning, BJP chief Amit Shah was reduced to spinning on a turban. After declaring the Congress as "defeated" and the BJP as victors in four seats where it had given away its deposits, he went on the attack. "The saffron party has grown. It won all the 59 seats under the leadership of Narendra Modi. The vote share of the saffron party has gone up," he added, apparently with a wink and a nod towards the PM. "Our victory is bigger than our defeat. It is about the people. Let the Congress party tell which nation's votes they are taking and which nation's votes they would take. We are a different party," he said in Gandhinagar, while according to the count of the Election Commission, he could have taken inspiration from the 40,000 voters who allegedly staged a walkout of the polling station in south Gujarat just after Modi had ended his speech. Modi had wooed the Gujarati voters with a promise for electricity to their home towns. "In Gujarat, there is power in everyone's homes. What do the opposition want to do to the people? When has any person or any party laid down their lives for the interest of the Gujarati people?" he asked. Addressing workers in Gujarat, he said that he had brought good
