You can buy Photoshop Elements from the same company as the full-featured Photoshop. The advantage is that the program is more cost effective and you get to use much of the same functionality found in Photoshop.  You'll find more information on the fundamentals of using Photoshop Elements in the sections that follow. Figure 2-5: One of the most powerful features in Photoshop is the ability to create layers, which you use for repeated edits. Customizing your workspace When you first open Photoshop, you find options at the bottom right of the window, as shown in  Figure 2-6. To change your workspace, choose Window⇒Workspace.  Figure 2-6 shows the most commonly used workspace options. You can easily create four separate windows (called workspace) by pressing the New Workspace button. Click the X to close the workspace windows and release the button to open another one. (If you don't see the Workspace button at the bottom right of the screen, press the Window menu and choose Workspace⇒Workspace Options.) Using the Toolbox The Toolbox is a collection of standard tools that work well together (see  Figure 2-7). Select a tool by clicking and dragging it into the window. Click to highlight a tool; then click the Eraser tool in the window to delete the selected tool. You can use a tool multiple times by simply clicking it in the Toolbox to select it again. To edit the tools in the Toolbox, click the Edit Toolbox button. (If the button isn't visible, click Window⇒Toolbox.) To save your current work, you must exit the current window and open a new one. Figure 2-7: Use the Toolbox to select tools to edit or work with them. After the tools in the Toolbox are selected, they can be used on the current or active document. For example, if you highlight the Brush tool and click a path, the path you create is active, but all tools in the Toolbox become inactive. To work on an active document, choose Edit⇒Work with Selection. Alternatively, you can work on an existing document, choosing Edit⇒Work with Document. Using the Selection Brush When you select a tool in the Toolbox, you see a symbol that indicates which tool is active — the brush in  Figure 2-7. Click the symbol
