VON LUNDIE Call it a little hunting and fishing expedition. After years of building a sand castle, an elderly woman from Bath spent the past week building a large tunnel beneath her kitchen, basement and garage. "I'm not crazy," she told a reporter with the Bristol Post as she pointed out the newly completed tunnel and told the Post she was "just having a little bit of fun." The woman was identified in a Saturday story as 99-year-old Myrtle Lundie, who was in the area last week to meet with friends at a local shelter for the homeless. Lundie, who is retired and lives in the city's downtown, told the newspaper she wasn't building a tunnel to escape from something and simply wanted to have some fun. "But I thought it would be nice if there was somewhere down there where I could keep my memories," she said. The tunnel is about 8 inches wide, 5 feet long and begins beneath Lundie's basement. "I had an idea that if I had a tunnel where I could get all my things in, it would be very handy and keep them in order," she told the Bristol Post. As for her newfound tunnel, Lundie told the newspaper she had no plans to live there. "It's just a nice way to store things that
