Keygen xforce.Uber and Lyft were hired to bring thousands of fans to Pasadena, California, for the Rose Bowl game on New Year's Day. But fans of the teams — the University of Georgia Bulldogs and the University of Southern California Trojans — spoke to BuzzFeed News about the inconsistent service and extremely long Uber rides that plagued them during the week. One Trojans fan, the account holder for a Uber car, estimated he had to wait for at least eight hours on a line of several hundred cars just to get a ride. Another fan said the wait was more than a half-hour longer than normal, but the passenger was unable to get a ride. Others said their Uber driver, it appeared, didn't show up. Uber users in Pasadena said passengers could pay an extra $20 in order to take a private car and avoid the long waits, but those prices ranged from $55 to $110. One Uber rider, not a fan of either team, told BuzzFeed News the entire experience was no fun. "The #Uber in Pasadena was by far the worst I have ever encountered in LA," he wrote. "The menu was extremely limited, fares were VERY high, drivers rarely showed up or waited way too long to start the journey. Uber needs to fix this...it's embarrassing." A representative for Uber told BuzzFeed News the company was aware of the complaints and was "actively working to address it." The team for the Trojans had a different problem — they said their Uber cars frequently weren't even ordered to come pick them up. "We got around 4am to leave our hotel to head to the Rose Bowl for this game, and had been through a few Uber logos already before we were told there were cars coming. After the second one, I got in — but was asked to confirm my destination and contact my driver directly. He never showed," one man wrote. "The next driver was equally as bad — he told us to keep waiting, then called an assistant who confirmed I should see my driver at the next dropoff point. At around 5am, I never saw my driver again, but did see an Uber van driving around with other Uber drivers — none of which had my driver's tag. I called Uber and he told me I would be receiving a pickup just outside the Rose Bowl as soon as he could find another driver. That was it," he added. A UGA fan said his car didn't arrive until 3:15pm that day, just a half-hour or so before kickoff.
