About. Amazon.com: Robin Sharma..Prognostic significance of tumor-infiltrating lymphocytes in patients with resected non-small cell lung cancer. Tumor-infiltrating lymphocytes (TIL) are found in many types of human tumors. The prognostic value of TIL in non-small cell lung cancer (NSCLC) is controversial. The aim of this study was to evaluate the impact of the density of TIL on the prognosis of NSCLC. Three hundred and seventy-three patients with NSCLC who underwent surgery with curative intent were evaluated. There were 144 patients who had lymph node (N+) disease and 229 patients who
