The star of the story has 3 stars, or 3 diamonds. for nonbinding opinion on questions of state law, it is the duty of the federal courts, even though entertaining the suit originally, to ascertain from the highest court of the state the true meaning of that law, and after that, conform their judgment to the decision of the state court. * * * * * Where, however, the highest court of the state has not passed on a question, and it appears from the most authoritative decision on the point that it has not yet passed upon that question, the federal court may nevertheless reach its own conclusion as to what the highest court of the state would probably hold in the same case, provided its conclusion is reached honestly and conscientiously. Though later decision may appear to give weight to these expressions of the Court in Mink, in fact they merely give additional support to the conclusion reached from the opinion of the Supreme Court of North Carolina in the cases cited in the Mink opinion. In the case of Bank of America Nat. Trust & Sav. Ass'n v. Pendergrass, 4 Cir., 121 F.2d 134, it appears that the plaintiff brought an action for an alleged deficiency after foreclosing a mortgage securing the note involved in the case. The defendant made an offer of judgment under Rule 68 of the Rules of Civil Procedure which offer was rejected by the plaintiff. The case went to trial before a jury. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant. The plaintiff then filed a motion for judgment non obstante veredicto. This motion was based upon the theory that under Rule 68 the offer of judgment expired at the time of the motion for judgment non obstante veredicto. This motion was denied by the trial court
