The new file format also allows XMP sidecar files in the EXIF data structure, including spot measurements and keycode data. The new task-based interface and user interface are designed to be easy-to-use and intuitive, with many advanced tools accessible through tool palettes. Supported key functions include:

- Rich Filter shows the current state of an image - such as how many images have been opened, how many have been processed, and the current number of selections, exposures, and corrections
- Support for large files. A processor benchmark is added that is capable of processing large files.
- Support for GPU rendering. Rendering on the GPU is now optional, and faster rendering can be enabled under processor benchmarks.
- New tasks to manage picture files. Add, edit, or organize files using a new folder tree and professional filters.
- Use the level tools to automate or control levels, exposure, and sharpening
- Change the color space, color tone, and color interpretation of images
- Use the Redeye Reduction tool to fine-tune the software settings
- The Picture Information window (File > Picture Info) has been completely redesigned to make it easier to view information without opening an image (File > Window > Picture Info)
- The Lens Correction tool (Filter > Lens Correction) corrects the lens distortion
- The repair tool (File > Repair) automatically labels pixels
- The Perspective Correction tool (Filter > Perspective) corrects camera alignment issues
